

Felicity Fly[®] meets
the Dragon Fruit and Friends

Written by Christina Gabbitas
Illustrated by Ric Lumb
Character designs by Julie Omond

Felicity flies into the kitchen from the garden and hears a lot of noise from people talking.

There is a band playing jolly music with lots of laughing.

“I wonder what the noise is inside the house?

I can usually hear a pin drop, it’s as quiet as a mouse.” says Felicity.

“It’s a party,” shouted a pink looking creature from a glass stand on the table, looking delicious.

“My name is Daniella Dragon Fruit, I come from Vietnam and I’m very nutritious.

I come from a plant called cactus,
I'm aspiring to be an actress."

"Wow, that sounds amazing, what are cactus plants?" says Felicity.
"We grow in a hot dry climate and we are loved by ants," replies Daniella Dragon Fruit.

“A pleasure to meet you Daniella Dragon Fruit, I love your pink jacket. Whatever is making all that racket?” says Felicity Fly.

“I believe that’s Pablo Pineapple, he loves to dance with his maracas. He comes from a place called Caracas,” says Daniella Dragon Fruit. “Pineapple is a fruit that has vitamins A, B and C, making it very healthy,” says Pablo Pineapple.

Pablo sings.....

“Come and join me with my jangly maracas,
I am Pablo and I come from Caracas.
When I am dancing, nothing else matters,
Cos I am Pablo and I love my maracas...”

“Caracas, where is that?” says Felicity Fly.

“It’s in a beautiful place called Venezuela, over the sea.
Venezuela is a wonderful country, if you paid it a visit you would definitely agree,” says Pablo Pineapple.